

A sentient rapier made from Tharn of Blizzards core. You assumed he was no more than a simple weapon, but after striking a bargain Tharn revealed himself to be much more than that. The man himself says it best, "Behold my frigid majesty! You will no longer regard me as a hunk of ice, but as the powerful wizard Tharn of Blizzards!"

Tharn of Blizzards, Rapier

Melee Weapon (Martial)

Category: Items

Damage: 1d8

Damage Type: Piercing

Item Rarity: Unique

Properties: light, versatile

Tharn's might causes this rapier to emit a biting cold to those who would oppose the wielder. You can use one of the following features 1d4+PB times a day, regain 1d4 plus your INT mod uses at dawn. The size of this die increases for every breakthrough Tharn reaches in his research.

Conjure Cold

Tharn's mastery of magic allows him to create ice wherever he goes. As an action you can create Ice up to the amount you can control with Master of Ice.

Master of Ice

As an action you can call on Tharn to impart some of his superb control over ice to you. For 10 minutes after activating this effect you may control ice you can see up to a 15ft by 15ft by 15ft block.

Cold Capture

Anything freezes as Tharn commands, even people. As an action you can force a creature within 60 feet of you that you can see to make a dexterity saving throw equal to 19. Upon failure the very air freezes around them, making them stunned until the end of your next turn.

Blooming Blizzard

A blizzard of grief echoes around you. Every creature in a 50ft radius must make a dexterity throw of 19 or take 3d8 cold damage. For every breakthrough Tharn makes in his research add 1d8 to the damage.

A World Consumed by Ice

By expending all of your available charges Tharn can unleash his full might. Every creature in a 100ft radius must make a dexterity saving throw of 19 or be incased in a block of ice, leaving them incapacitated. Any creature not thawed out within an hour dies of frostbite.
